ABOUT THE ARTIST

Hi, I'm Mary Williams!

I'm an artist currently living in Southern California with my husband and two children. My art is warm, gentle, and reflective. Inspired by my love of flowers and my previous career in ministry, I believe we are all called to spread beauty in the world. When I don't have a paintbrush in my hand, you'll find me enjoying morning walks with our Goldendoodle, cuddled up reading to our kids, or adventuring around the country with my family in our Airstream trailer.

BLUE SKY JOY

There's a singular moment every spring when it feels like the world is finally coming alive again. A butterfly flutters past my shoulders ever so sweetly. Wild sunflowers begin popping up in the hiking trails near our house. The sun delightfully beams against a perfectly blue sky. Breathe in the joy of the season!

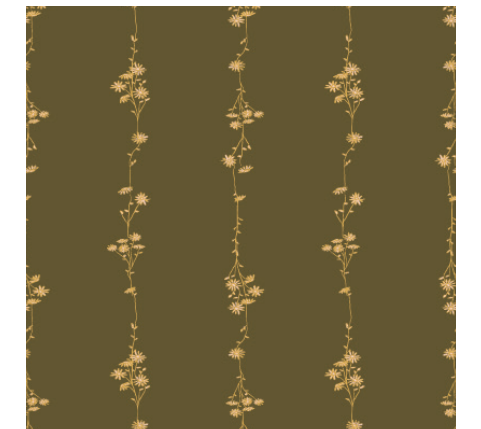

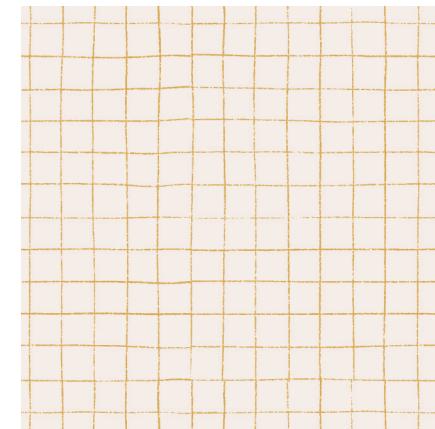

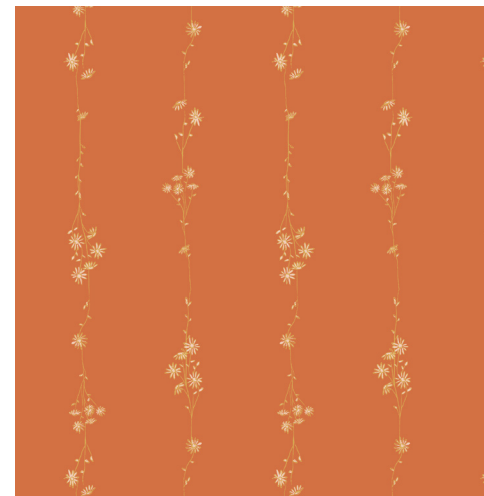

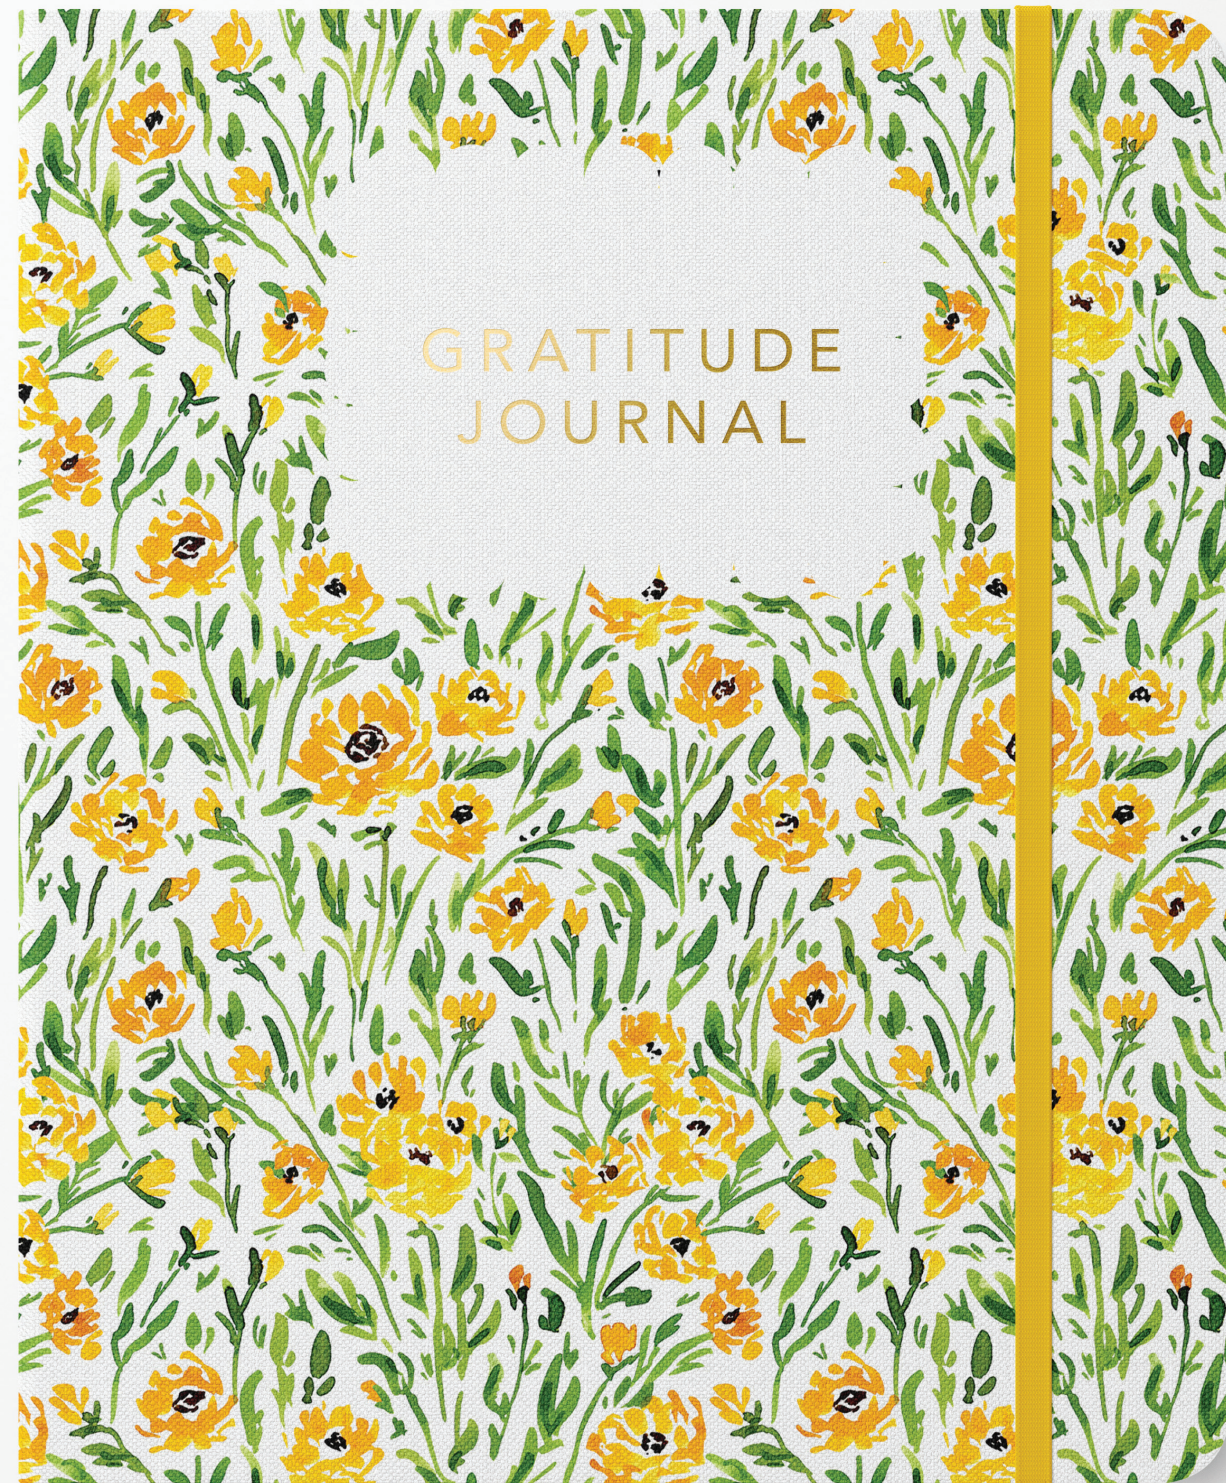

PRAIRIE SOUL

A couple of years ago, I read aloud the entire Little House series to my children. The timeless experiences of heartfelt gratitude and tender resiliency so beautifully depicted by author Laura Ingalls Wilder left a lasting impact on my soul.

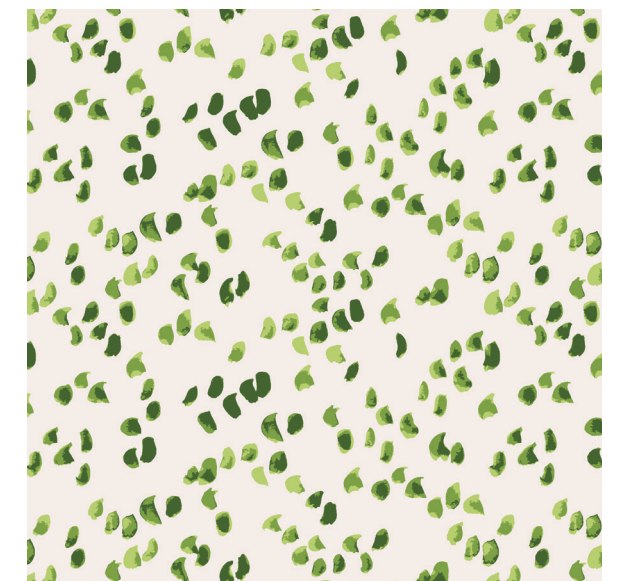

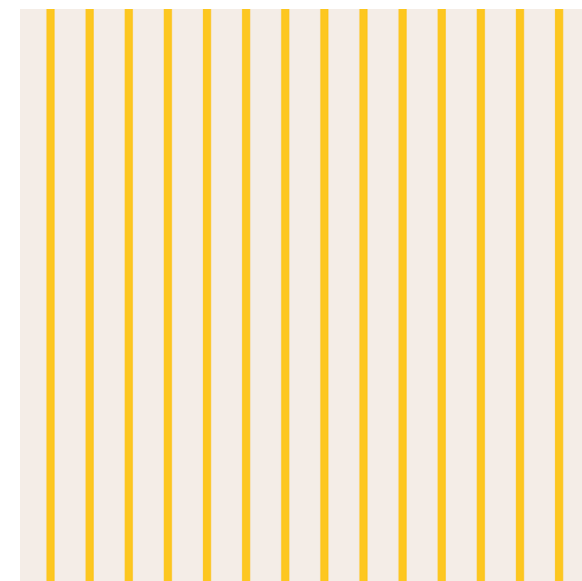

DANCING IN YELLOW

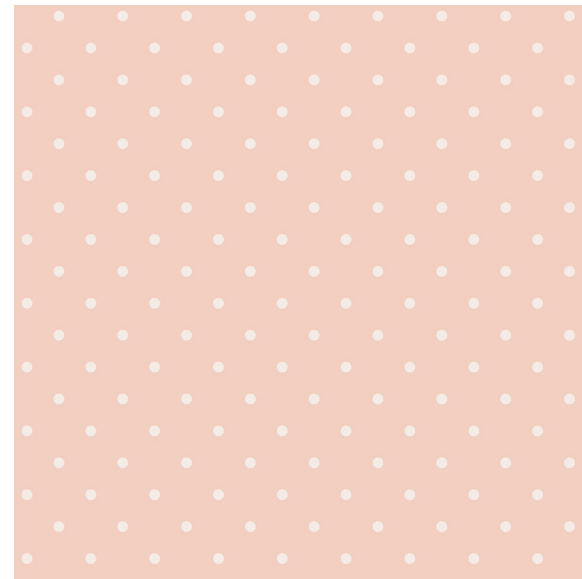

I'll always remember the evening my boyfriend (now my husband) greeted me at the airport with a yellow rose. My heart was dancing with love!

CHAMOMILE DREAMS

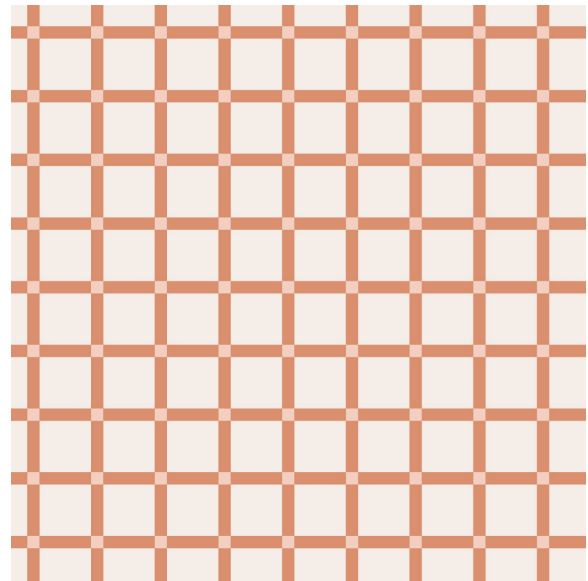

Whenever I see them at the grocery store, I just have to buy a bouquet of chamomile. Is it any surprise that these blooms help us have sweet dreams at night?

JANUARY'S CAMELLIA

Our tiny Southern California home is surrounded by camellia trees. Their sweet winter blooms remind me that the beauty and hopefulness of spring are always near.

INDIVIDUAL WATERCOLOR PRINTS

I can't explain it, but there's something about the way watercolors puddle and pool on paper that has captured my heart. In addition to painting for my patterns, I adore creating one-of-a-kind watercolor illustrations.

I'm so deeply grateful for your time and thoughtful consideration of my artwork. It remains my fervent desire to spread beauty in the world, and I consider it an honor to be able to spend my days doing so.
